

Start the year with this excellent 'three for two' CCWT training offer

Great learning and development offers from CCWT, to start 2018

We have a number of new courses for 2018, especially in Permanency and OOHC - where we have also reduced the daily course fee. And until 12th March we have a great offer for all our courses.

The 'three for two' CCWT Training Offer

To ensure your training program really gets off to a good start for the year, if you or your organisation book any two CCWT training courses online until Monday 12th March, you will be entitled to claim a further one-day training course for any staff member at no charge.

Once you have booked two courses online, simply send us an email (ccwt@ccwt.edu.au) with the names of those you have registered and the course details for each of these first two classes. We will then register a third person that you nominate in the email on a further one-day CCWT training course, at no cost.

The 2018 CCWT Calendar of Courses

The CCWT Calendar program offers over 275 workshops in a broad range of topics relevant to people working in community services, health and other non-government organisations, with face-to-face training in 16 venues around NSW. Diversity, cultural sensitivity and inclusivity are strongly valued and practised.

For 2018 we've also changed our pricing for many courses, with those reflecting Permanency and Out of Home Care reduced to only $200 per student per day, and further discounts for CCWT and ACWA Members.

To view all of our training programs for 2018, please visit the CCWT website.

If you have any questions on our courses, would like a hard copy of the CCWT Training Handbook 2018, or would like to discuss our in-House Training programs, please contact us on (02) 9281 8822, or via ccwt@ccwt.edu.au
