Making the Most of Your Training Investment

While training is a vital part of ensuring your workforce is engaged, capable and confident, it comes at a cost and in our resourced-constrained environment we need to ensure we maximise the value of training. Two critical elements are the "bookends" to the training activity – planning and embedding. CCWT is offering two free webinars to help you get these elements right, so you get the most from your training investment. Webinar 1: Where do I focus my training resources? This... [\[More\]](#)
